“In her article published in the May 2005 issue of Trends, Michelle Sandlin, Director of the Office of Admissions at Oregon State University told us that universities and colleges are coming to a greater understanding of the rigor of the International Baccalaureate Diploma Programme. She added that, as a result, many institutions are strengthening their recruitment efforts that target IB Diploma students and are developing more appropriate and effective IB recognition policies.”

Students have the opportunity to develop:

cultural awareness necessary for international communication and understanding global perspective on the relationship between people and natural resources proficiency in speaking a foreign language interest in careers in the international arena

Eugene International High School is the winner of the 2008 Goldman Sachs Foundation prize for Excellence in International Education

Overview

Established in 1984, Eugene International High School (Eugene IHS) is an alternative school in international studies for grades nine through twelve. The school is designed for students who value global understanding and communication, cultural differences, and improving the human condition. Eugene IHS is a four-year interdisciplinary curriculum focused on the study of nations, their cultures, history, artistic expression, and political, economic, and belief systems. Students who graduate from Eugene IHS will have developed a cultural awareness necessary for international communication and understanding.

Our School

Located at three sites in District 4J on the campuses of South Eugene High School, Sheldon High School, and Churchill High School, Eugene IHS offers students a core curriculum in international studies during half of their school day. During the other half, Eugene IHS students can select from an array of courses offered in the host schools in the sciences, mathematics, languages, publications, applied technology, physical education, and fine and performing arts. Students with advanced language skills in Spanish or French have the opportunity to participate in language immersion courses in Eugene IHS.

International Baccalaureate

Eugene IHS is a member of the International Baccalaureate Program, a world wide affiliation of schools that promotes international standards of achievement. All the course work for Eugene IHS juniors and seniors meets the requirements for the IB. Eugene IHS students may choose to pursue the full IB diploma with examinations in six subjects or to earn certificates in specific areas of study. The IB diploma and the certificates can earn students college credit in universities and colleges all over the world. For more information on the IB diploma program go to the International Baccalaureate Organization's website at: www.ibo.org.
